Publication of Research Journal – Prashastya(ISSN 2349-6487)

The institution is very supportive in publishing an exclusive research-oriented journal Prashastya biennially. The journal comprises of the articles written by faculty and students in various topics. The motto of this journal is to motivate the faculty members to take up active research in the field of their interest which contribute to the development of faculty in particular and society in general. The journal also publishes the articles written by the students to motivate students to develop in research spirit. It is registered and has got its own editorial board comprising of 6 members and has reviewers and advisory board who are mavericks in the field of academics.

During the process of publishing research articles, the students learn to develop research proposal, select methods of research, carry out the process in field, analyse and present it for better understanding of the research by them.

Outcome:

The journal provides a platform for the students and faculty members to study the topic in broader sense and enable them to make in depth study of the topic undertaken by them. How to conduct survey, acquaint with modern research methods, analyse, organise and present it in more professional manner.

The platform is open for both UG and PG programmes and in the recent times, it has motivated a greater number of students and faculty members to present more research papers in all categories like state, national, international and referred journals.
